

Euronet Enters Greek Market

Leawood, Kansas, USA – March 29, 2000 -- Euronet Services Inc. (Nasdaq: EEFT) has established an office in Athens, Greece and completed all regulatory requirements to enter the ATM management outsourcing business in that country. This new in-country presence will facilitate Euronet's pursuit of several promising opportunities to take on ATM management for a number of multinational banks with Greek operations. In addition, the new Euronet office will also advance sales of the company's Arksys brand integrated transaction management software, which is already in use by retail financial institutions across Greece.

"Greece is experiencing a tremendous growth in ATM deployment," notes Michael J. Brown, chairman and CEO of Euronet Services, "and we're going to be a major part of it. We bring expertise in providing banks and retailers with ATM management services on long-term outsourcing contracts, plus a state-of-the-art transaction processing switch infrastructure in Budapest, Hungary. In combination, these assets make Euronet the ideal partner for financial institutions in Greece seeking to provide their customers with ATM convenience while concentrating their resources on their core business activities."

Over the past five years, Euronet has gained extensive experience in establishing and managing ATM networks in Europe. This skill set includes ATM site selection and installation, ATM operations and maintenance, and transaction processing and settlement.
