Greetings fellow Euronetters:

I'd like to share some important and exciting news. This morning Euronet announced that we have proposed to acquire MoneyGram, Inc., the second-largest global money transfer company, which is headquartered in Minneapolis, in an all-stock transaction (the press release we issued earlier today is attached for your information). This strategically and financially compelling proposal would combine two leading companies and create a powerful new player in the international money transfer industry. However, to date MoneyGram has refused to open a meaningful dialogue with us, leaving us no choice but to make this proposal public.

An acquisition of MoneyGram would join the second and third-largest international money transfer companies, greatly increasing the combined company's scale and resources. Combining our highly complementary distribution networks, corridors and agent locations would expand both companies' geographic reach and unlock compelling opportunities to penetrate the 75% of the money transfer market that is underserved and highly fragmented, while enabling us to further benefit from rapid growth in the international arena. Such a combination would produce significant benefits to all stockholders, customers, partners and you, our employees, who would enjoy the career benefits and opportunities that come from being part of a larger, stronger global company.

Euronet has created a substantial and growing business independent of this proposal. We are one of the largest financial processors in the world today. Our excellent performance in emerging markets and growth prospects have enabled us to propose the combination with MoneyGram that we announced this morning. Please go to our web site for more information.

It is important to note that we do not yet have an agreement with MoneyGram - and while we are determined to take all steps necessary to complete this transaction, there is no guarantee we will be able to do so. However, we are hopeful that the MoneyGram Board will recognize the significant merits of our proposal and seriously consider the combination of our two companies.

As events unfold, I urge you to remain focused on the day-to-day running of our business, which is critical to Euronet's continued success. As always, employees should not be speaking with the press regarding corporate activities. If you should receive inquiries from the media regarding this matter, please forward them to Shruthi Dyapaiah-Fielder (sdyapaiah@eef.com or +1-913-327-4225.)

Thank you for your hard work and dedication. It is your continued commitment that makes Euronet the great company we are today.

More news to follow,

/s/ Mike
